Analytical and detail oriented, bridging applied data science and secure systems engineering. Combines practical project experience in Python, machine learning workflows, and spatial databases (PostgreSQL/PostGIS) with foundational cybersecurity principles. Adept at building end-to-end data pipelines, from exploratory analysis to robust, validated models, while maintaining a focus on clean code and data integrity.

PROJECTS

BomaServe: AI Powered Home Service Provider Dispatch Platform

Built a Gemini-powered NLP pipeline parsing unstructured English, Swahili, and Sheng requests with 93% intent accuracy across 15 categories.

Integrated PostGIS geospatial queries with the LLM parser, delivering local provider matching within a 10 km radius in under 1.5 seconds.

Secured the FastAPI backend with JWT authentication, role based access control, and rate limiting to protect AI endpoints.

Predictive Customer Retention Engine

-Deployed an end to end churn prediction pipeline via a FastAPI microservice, exposing RESTful endpoints for real-time risk scoring.

-Eliminated a "probability compression" defect by identifying key feature importance, boosting model classification accuracy from ~26% to over 70%.

-Engineered robust data cleansing in Pandas to handle malformed strings and aligned matrix schemas with Pydantic to prevent silent API validation failures.

-Trained and serialized a Random Forest Classifier using Scikit-Learn and Joblib to compute real-time mathematical retention probabilities from JSON payloads.
